To Whom it may concern,

Cole Ternes has worked for the Fowler School of Engineering serving as a student worker under my supervision for the past year, beginning Summer 2021.

Over that time, I was consistently impressed with his attention to detail and ability to work constructively and cooperatively with staff and faculty. I've often said that if I could clone Cole, I'd never have to worry about staffing problems again. He's truly a gifted employee, quick to ask for more to do and able to remember the long list of requests that the dean's suite staff asks of him every day.

Cole is also an innovator. Thanks to many of his suggestions, we have revamped many of our google sheets and formulas that are embedded in them. He also has exceptional abilities to keep and maintain excellent records of all the engineering supplies and equipment.

Our faculty, staff, and the engineering students love him. Many faculty and staff members have suggested that he stay and get his master's degree just so he can stay with us for an extended period of time. Cole is superb in all that he does. He has graduated with the highest honors and overwhelming number of references to attest to his skill, hard work, dedication and talent. I am honored to be one of them.

As you can tell by now, I am quite impressed with this outstanding young man and give my strongest recommendation for any role which requires intelligence, organization, communication skills, and a positive attitude. Please feel free to contact me if you need additional information or perspective.

Sincerely,

Adena Hamlin
